

“Dogging” Deep into Dogs World

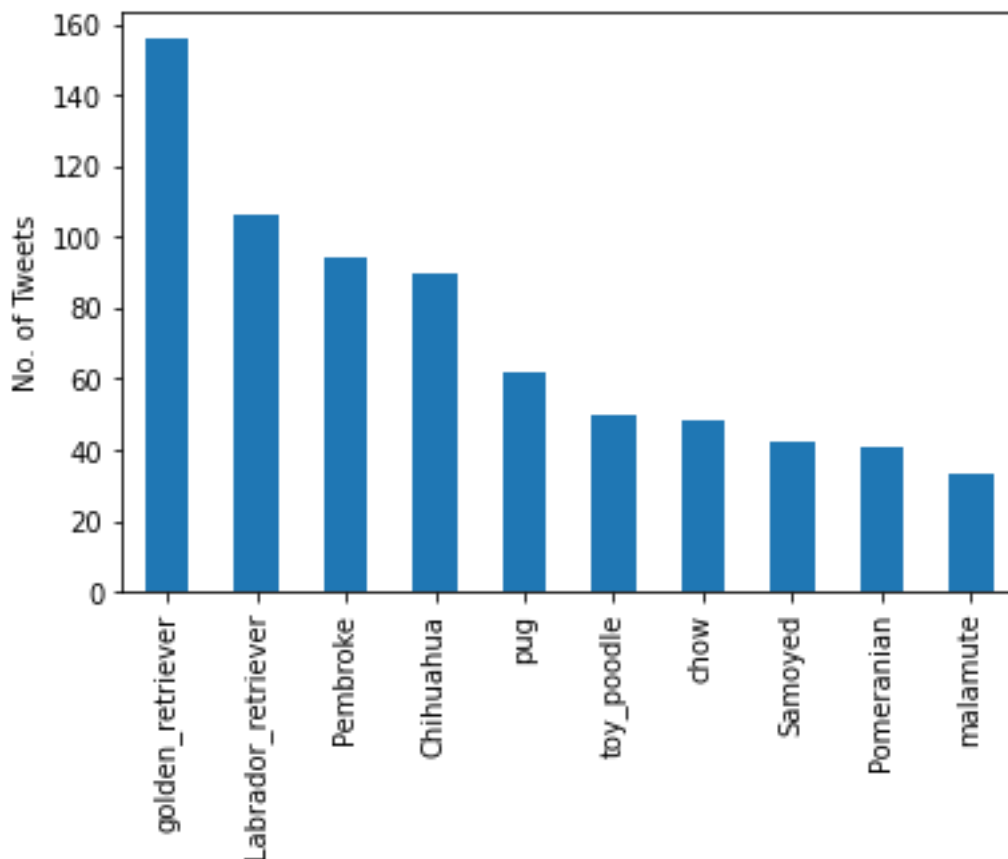

Looking forward to getting a new Dog? Well, take a dive with us in the next few lines to see what the best choice for you and family might be. We will try to give you some insights and thoughts to guide your decision making.

Being not a dog person, it was a little bit difficult to show strong interest and focus to exert the required effort in analyzing this data. Hopefully, I will be able to convey my findings to you, reader!

Data was provided by “WeRateDogs” Twitter account via Udacity. This Twitter account gained popularity from its unique approach when it comes to rating and expressing love for dogs.

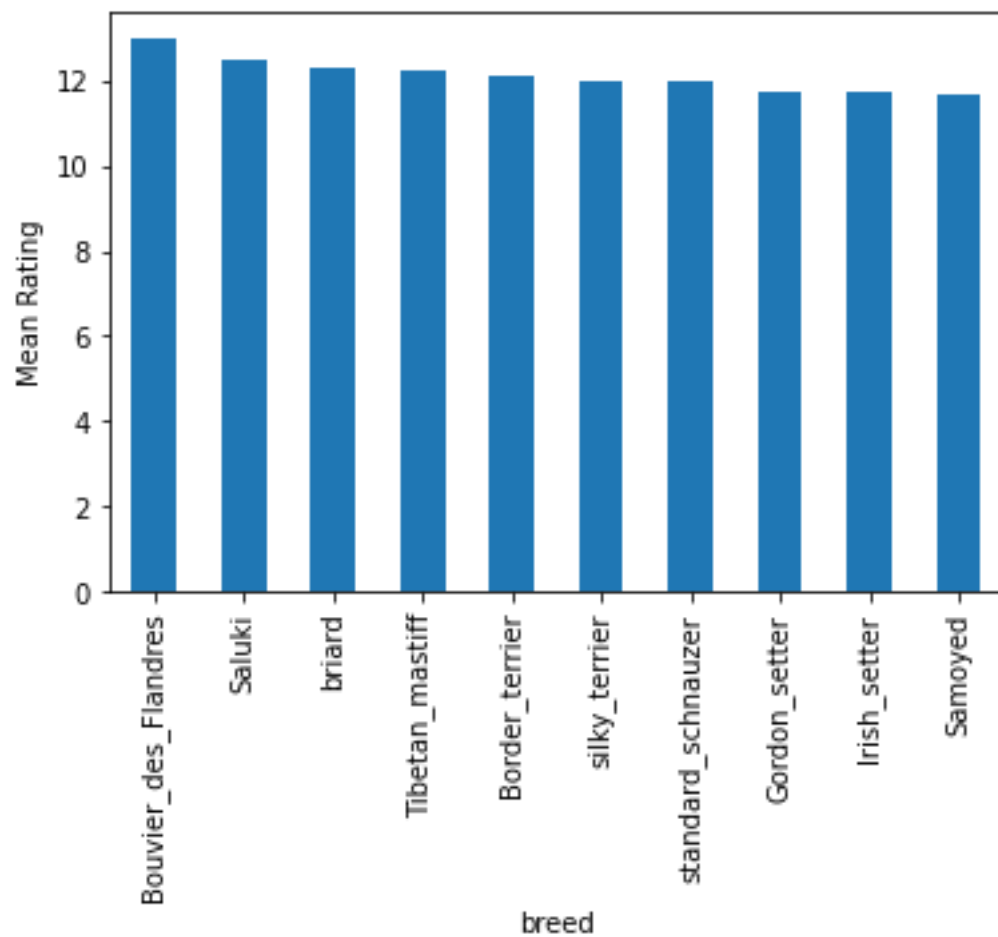

So Basically, here we are going to answer 3 questions using visualizations. Already all these questions were answered programmatically through written code in Jupyter Notebook.

1. Which breed gets the highest tweet count?

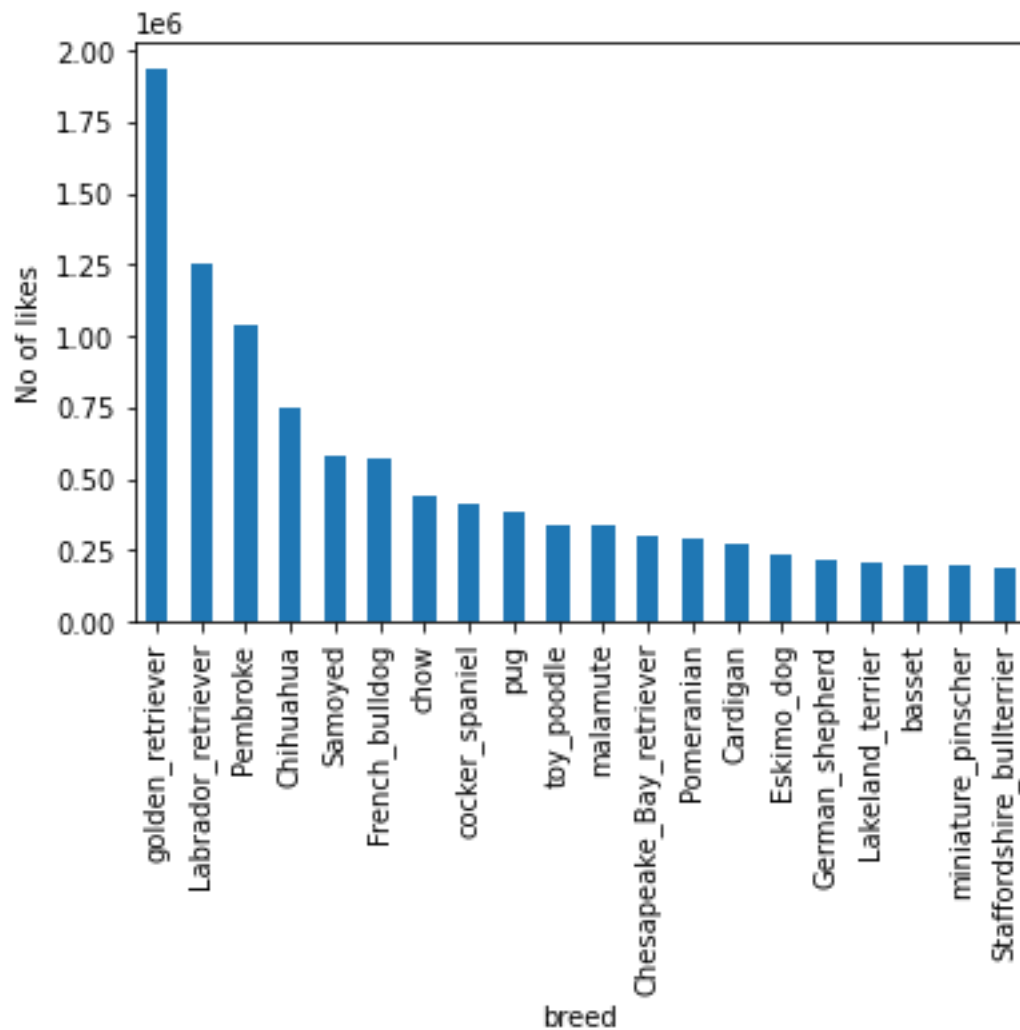

We can see the top five tweeted dogs are Golden Retriever, Labrador Retriever, Pembroke Welsh Corgi, Chihuahua and Pug. But the Golden Retriever is way on top as the graph indicates.

2. Which breed gets the highest rating?

As indicated by the graph above, the highest rated dog is Bouvier de Flandres followed by Saluki. Further analysis should be done here taking into consideration number of tweets per breed.

3. Which breed gets the highest number of likes?

As indicated by the graph, once again the Golden Retriever tops the list with a whopping difference! I guess there is something special about this dog breed Afterall. However, further analysis needed taking into consideration number of tweets per breed.
